ABSTRACT

Serving as an introduction to Federal assistance and as a locator of specific rural development programs, this directory is divided into the 5 following general categories: (1) Jobs, Business, Industry; (2) Community Facilities; (3) Community Functions and Services; (4) Housing; (5) Planning and Coordination. Each of these categories is divided into chapters which are devoted to specific rural community improvement functions for which there are related or matching Federal assistance programs. Chapters are intended to parallel "spheres of interest" at the local level. Each chapter includes the government-wide approach to a particular local problem, bringing the resources of several different departments and agencies together under one chapter heading. Each of some 600 entries include a program title and summary, eligibility requirements, and name and/or address of information contacts. (JC)

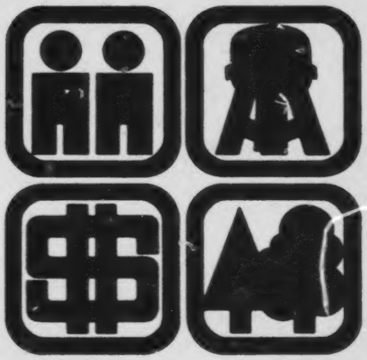
GUIDE TO FEDERAL PROGRAMS FOR RURAL DEVELOPMENT



Rural Development Service
United States Department of Agriculture

RC008658

PREFACE

No catalog of Federal aid programs is so well prepared for use in rural development as this, former Assistant Secretary of Agriculture John A. Baker's Guide to Federal Programs for Rural Development.

The first edition of the Guide was prepared by Mr. Baker in 1970 for copyrighted publication by the Independent Bankers Association of America. Recognizing the value of the Guide, the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry, under the chairmanship of Senator Herman E. Talmadge, sponsored its updating and revision. Printing of the second edition was authorized by concurrent resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives in December 1971. The Guide was still in demand in 1973, even though much of its content was outdated and the supply exhausted.

In early summer of 1973, the National Area Development Institute, an independent nonprofit organization supported largely by the Ford Foundation, was asked by the Rural Development Service to assist in the design and planning of the agency's first National Rural Development Leaders School. Mr. Baker updated and revised the third edition of the Guide for use in that and subsequent sessions of the school.

Demand for the Guide continued, and the Rural Development Service, with permission from the Independent Bankers Association, decided to publish this fourth edition. Mr. Baker graciously agreed to do the necessary revising and updating as a public service, an offer which was gratefully accepted.

Walter A. Guntharp
Administrator
Rural Development Service

INTRODUCTION

This fourth edition of the Guide to Federal Programs for Rural Development has been prepared as a reference handbook for local leaders in rural communities across the land. It is dedicated to the future of economic opportunity and the quality of life in rural America.

Development means profitable business, culture, environment, expanding job opportunities, greater capital investment, higher personal incomes, modern community facilities and a full range of public services—in short, a high quality of life. In rural areas, the goal is to develop sustained economic growth, while maintaining the unique charactor and style of town and country living.

Rural development depends on National and State commitment; but there is no magic formula to guarantee development for the individual community, except the inspiration of local leadership and the determination of local citizens to develop their own area.

Private business and public agencies share the responsibility and the opportunity to create and promote this type of development. Success depends on the vision to set attainable goals, the resolution to work toward planned objectives, and a high degree of cooperation for community improvement among all the diverse elements within a given area.

Many aspects of local development are related to similar efforts in neighboring communities, and to broader development programs within a larger area. District planning and development agencies, councils of government, or similar organizations have been created to provide coordination and mutual assistance for both the planning and the action programs of participating jurisdictions.

Local development programs also are highly dependent upon State government for legislative authority, technical assistance, and financial aid. Throughout this handbook, reference is made to State (or State-authorized) programs which are financed to some degree by the Federal Government through formula or project grants.

In addition to local and State development programs, many Federal departments and agencies offer some type of financial or technical aid to localities outside the highly urbanized sections of the country. Many of these programs are specifically designed to meet rural needs, but most are general domestic assistance programs for which both metropolitan and nonmetropolitan communities are eligible. To tap these resources and bring proportional benefits to less-densely populated areas requires broad knowledge of the Federal programs as well as special alertness and effort in making applications.

To make this Guide useful as an introduction to Federal assistance and as a "locator" of specific programs, we have departed from the usual organizational structure of Government catalogs and manuals—except for listings in the appendixes. There are five general categories covered: Part I: Jobs, Business, Industry; Part II: Community Facilities; Part III: Community Functions and Services; Part IV: Housing; Part V: Planning and Coordination.

Each chapter in each part of this handbook is devoted to a specific rural community improvement function for which there are related or matching Federal assistance programs. The chapters are intended to parallel "spheres of interest" at the local level. Each chapter includes the government-wide approach to a particular local problem. This type of organization brings the resources of several different departments and agencies together under one chapter heading. All programs with similar objectives will be found side-by-side, regardless of how they are separated organizationally at the Federal level for administrative or budget purposes.

Individual programs are described in summary form, and arranged alphabetically under chapter headings. Cross references are used to help avoid repetition.

The numbers in parentheses beside each item heading refer to sections of the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance (cited below), which will provide more detailed information than is contained here.

Program literature is available for the user of this Guide who desires more detailed information about any particular program. Technical regulations and procedures governing Federal programs are too complex and too voluminous to be included in this handbook. These materials are available from the Information Contacts given for each program.

Factual information for this publication has been obtained from the following sources:

1. Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance. Compiled for the Executive Office of the President by the Office of Management and Budget.
2. Federal Programs Available to Assist Rural America. 1968 Department of Agriculture Special Handbook.
3. 1969 Listing of Operating Federal Assistance Programs Compiled During the Roth Study. House of Representatives Document No. 91-177.
4. United States Government Organization Manual. Office of the Federal Register National Archives Records Service, General Services Administration.
5. Various publications of the U.S. Government.

The purpose of this handbook is to organize and summarize all available Federal assistance for rural development. No attempt has been made to evaluate the effectiveness of these programs. It should be noted that funds for the operation of Federal programs must be authorized by legislation and appropriated annually by the Congress. For many of the programs, the final expenditure of appropriated funds is left to the discretion of the Executive Branch. Within the legislative guidelines, the Executive Branch also determines the priority emphasis to be placed on different programs of local assistance, the degree of "outreach" to rural areas, and the effectiveness of the delivery systems.

We sincerely hope that the functional approach of this Guide will help to clarify the role of the Federal Government in rural development, and that this handbook will be of practical assistance in building better communities for tomorrow.

John A. Baker

TRADE ADJUSTMENT ASSISTANCE (11.106)

Domestic and International Business Administration, USDC

Assistance Available

Direct loans; guaranteed loans; technical assistance. After firms have been found eligible to seek assistance by either the Tariff Commission or the President because of serious import injury or threat thereof, or are members of an injured industry within the context of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962, the Department of Commerce certifies firms eligible to apply for assistance and approves the proposals by firms for their economic recovery. It provides assistance to implement recovery plans. Adjustment assistance for individual firms may be furnished through technical assistance, financial assistance, and tax assistance, to be supplied separately or in any combination as the case requires. Financial assistance may consist of loans for capital equipment, buildings, land and, in exceptional circumstances, working capital. No financial assistance is provided if funds are available from private sources on reasonable terms. Tax assistance is available by allowing 5-year operating loss carrybacks. Technical assistance, which is provided by contracting for consulting services, may be used to help develop, as well as implement, a firm's recovery proposal.

Eligibility

Applicant Eligibility: A firm (or its representative) producing an article like or directly competitive with a foreign article which is, as a result of concessions granted under a trade agreement, being imported into the United States in such increased quantities as to cause, or threaten to cause, serious injury to such firm.

Beneficiary Eligibility: Firms found by the Tariff Commission to have been so injured or which are members of injured industries and subsequently certified by the Secretary of Commerce as eligible for adjustment assistance.

Credentials/Documentation: Applicant firm must submit a complete proposal for its economic recovery, including financial statements, sales projections, market and employment data, assistance needs, and other supporting materials.

TRADE ADJUSTMENT ASSISTANCE—WORKERS (17.400)

Bureau of International Labor Affairs, USDL

Assistance Available

Direct payments with unrestricted use and specialized services to provide adjustment assistance to workers adversely affected by imports resulting in major part from trade agreement concessions. Also loans to business.

Eligibility

Applications for adjustment assistance may be initiated in one of the following ways: (1) Assistance for workers after Presidential action on Tariff Commission finding of injury to industry. If the U.S. Tariff Commission has made a finding that an entire industry has been adversely affected by increasing imports resulting in major part from trade agreement concessions, and the President has authorized adjustment assistance for workers in that industry, then workers from firms in that industry may file for adjustment assistance directly with the Department of Labor. Labor will then conduct an investigation to determine whether the petitioner's unemployment has resulted in major part from increased imports, or (2) if no industry-wide finding has been made by the Tariff Commission a group of 3 or more workers from a firm or their certified or recognized union or other authorized representative may file a petition with the Tariff Commission for a determination of eligibility.

VETERANS, BUSINESS LOANS (64.108)

Department of Veterans Benefits, VA

Assistance Available

Guaranteed and insured loans to assist World War II and Korean conflict veterans, and certain unmarried widows and widowers of these veterans, in the purchase or expansion of legitimate businesses or in the pursuit of a gainful occupation on more liberal terms than generally available to non-veterans.

Loans for engaging in business or a gainful occupation made to eligible veterans may be guaranteed or insured if they are used for such purposes as (a) acquiring land, buildings, supplies, equipment, tools, inventory or stock in trade; (b) construction, renovation, repair or improvement of realty; (c) working capital; (d) refinancing indebtedness incurred in pursuit of gainful occupation; (e) payment of delinquent taxes or assessments. Restrictions on guaranty or insurance of loans are that (a) property acquired with loan proceeds must be reasonably necessary for efficient and successful pursuit of the business or occupation; (b) the veteran's ability, experience and operating conditions are such that success of the venture is reasonably likely; and (c) the property price and other costs do not exceed reasonable value determined by VA.

Eligibility

Veterans of World War II or the Korean conflict (a) who served on active duty 90 days or more and were discharged or released under conditions other than dishonorable; or (b) with less service if discharged with a service-connected disability; or (c) unmarried widows and widowers of the same classes of veterans who died in service or of service-connected disabilities. Applicants must have sufficient present and prospective income to meet loan repayment terms and have a satisfactory credit record.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICES—RURAL AREAS AND COMMUNITIES (17.207)

Manpower Administration, USDL

Assistance Available

Special services are provided in rural and farm areas to meet the needs of the particular areas. The State employment services receive guidance in providing these services from the Rural Manpower Service (RMS) of the Manpower Administration. These services provided by the employment service are: year-round recruitment and placement of workers in farm and woods occupations; assistance to farmers in meeting critical, seasonal labor needs by "day-haul" of workers; recruitment and arranging movement of migratory farmworkers from supply to demand areas; and determination of the needs for training in farm and woods related industry skills. Area concept expansion is an experimental approach to providing manpower services to rural areas. Employment security agencies in 12 States have reorganized their local office structure in certain rural areas to better provide manpower services to a functional economic area, rather than to a limited geographical area, as was formerly the case. Specialized services are now centered in an area office, usually in the "hub" city of the area, and other offices serve as "satellite offices" calling on the area office for specialized services. An area manager is responsible for all employment service activities in the designated area, and tie-ins with job banks are being initiated.

The Smaller Communities Program consists of mobile employment service teams sent by the State employment services to provide rural areas with manpower and supportive services. To attract new industry to an area, the mobile team compiles and publishes a comprehensive manpower resource report on each area served, profiling its available and potential skills, detailed information on the area's economy, and its institutional components. The Hitchhike Program is a method of overlaying manpower programs on existing compatible institutions successfully functioning in rural areas.

Cooperative Extension Service county offices, community colleges, farmer groups, and State and local welfare agencies are examples of facilities with potential delivery capability. State employment security agency subcontracts with the delivery agency (such as the State Cooperative Extension Service) to provide a broad spectrum of manpower services to residents of remote rural areas.

Eligibility

Prospective employers and workers in rural areas and rural villages, towns, and small cities.

LOANS TO SMALL BUSINESS (59.012)

Small Business Administration

Assistance Available

Direct, participation, insured, and guaranteed loans. Financing of individual small businesses by the Small Business Administration. Funds may be used (1) to construct, expand, or convert facilities; (2) to purchase buildings, equipment, or materials; or (3) for working capital.

Eligibility

A small business which is independently owned and operated and is not dominant in its field. Size limitation: Manufacturers with employment varying from 250 up to 1,000 persons. Wholesalers with annual sales up to $5 million. Retail and service concerns with revenues up to $1 million.
Other restrictions are types of business as listed under Economic Opportunity Loans in this chapter.

Funds must not be otherwise available on reasonable terms, nor used to pay off a loan to an unsecured creditor who is in a position to sustain the loan.

Information Contact

Small Business Administration field office (See appendix.)

LOCAL DEVELOPMENT COMPANY (59.013)

Small Business Administration

Assistance Available

Direct and guaranteed loans offer a local development company an opportunity to assist in the planned economic growth of a community and promote and assist the growth and development of small business concerns in the area. Small Business Administration participates with banks, insurance companies, pension and similar funds, and State agencies in making loans to local development companies for financing local projects. SBA may lend up to $350,000 for each small business to be assisted by a local development company. Terms up to 25 years. Loan proceeds are used solely for plant construction, conversion, or expansion (including the purchase of land, buildings, equipment, and machinery). Not for working capital.

Eligibility

Group of 25 or more residents or businessmen (75 percent local) organized as a profit or nonprofit organization under general State corporation statute. Local development company must raise a share of the total project cost—usually 10 to 20 percent—with the lower amounts for smaller communities, lower income areas, and communities suffering from persistent and substantial unemployment. Private lending institutions are encouraged to join the Small Business Administration in financing balance of project cost. Type of participation may be (1) guaranty plan, (2) regular participation plan, or (3) first mortgage plan.

Information Contact

Information Contact

Regional office of Department of Commerce (See appendix.)

MODEL CITIES APPLIED TO RURAL AREAS (NOT LISTED)

Community Planning and Development, HUD

Assistance Available

Project grants, from formula grant funds, for comprehensive attacks on social, economic, and physical problems in selected slum and blighted urban areas in cities of all sizes and in all parts of the country. All resources (Federal, State, local, and private) are to be coordinated and concentrated on projects. Supplemental grants may be used for administrative costs, and for implementation of projects and activities in an approved model cities program; 100 percent of the cost of relocation may be approved. (See also Model Cities, Chapter 2, Part II. Also Grants for Community Development, Chapter 2, Part II.)

Eligibility

Any municipality, county, or other public body having general governmental powers (or two or more public bodies jointly). Beneficiaries may be neighborhood residents, organizations, or other groups providing services or other assistance to a blighted target area (model neighborhood) within a model city.

Information Contact

Regional office of Department of Housing and Urban Development (See appendix.)

NEIGHBORHOOD DEVELOPMENT (NOT LISTED)

Community Planning and Development, HUD

Assistance Available

Project grants from formula grant funds; direct loans and repayable advances; and guaranteed and insured loans. Financial assistance for the execution of urban renewal plans. Program allows broad, flexible plans specifying major land uses, density of development, and the public facilities needed. Funds may not be used for the construction of buildings. Rehabilitation grants and direct 3-percent rehabilitation loans are available to eligible owners and tenants of property in the area.

Eligibility

Counties and municipalities. (See also Grants for Community Development, this chapter.)

Information Contact

NEW COMMUNITIES—LOAN GUARANTEES (14.207)

Community Planning and Development, HUD

Assistance Available

Guaranteed and insured loans for public and private new community developers in financing land assembly and development costs in an amount up to $50 million for each project. Private developers may receive guarantees up to 80 percent of land value plus 90 percent of estimated development costs. Public developers may receive guarantees up to 100 percent of land value and development costs.

Eligibility

Public and private developers must possess the financial, technical, and administrative ability to complete a large-scale land development project over an extended period of time. Eligible new community developments must include most, if not all, of the basic activities and facilities associated with a city or town, including a substantial job base. They must provide a substantial amount of low- and moderate-income housing and an affirmative action program of equal access and opportunity to all. They must be economically viable and their impact upon the area must not be adverse. They must be consistent with areawide planning.

Information Contact

WORKS OF IMPROVEMENT—COST-FREE ENGINEERING CONSTRUCTION (NOT LISTED)

National Guard and Reserve Units of Department of Air Force, Army, and Navy

Assistance Available

Many rural communities, and local rural leaders, have been able to make arrangements with nearby-based engineering units of the National Guard and Reserves of Air Force, Army, and Navy. These Reserve and National Guard units require training and experience in engineering construction and works. Many of these units have used local rural works of improvement as the basis for their active duty, and volunteer training. This is practical experience with a useful product such as actual construction of needed public works and community facilities not otherwise obtainable—streets and roads, bridges, buildings, health facilities, scenic improvements.

Information Contacts

NEIGHBORHOOD CENTERS (NOT LISTED)

Community Development, HUD

Assistance Available

Project grants from formula grant fund to construct or rehabilitate multiservice neighborhood centers. Proposed facilities must be needed to carry out a program of community service in the area. Must be consistent with comprehensive planning for the area. Must be accessible to low- or moderate-income residents. See Neighborhood Development, this chapter.

Eligibility

Local public bodies, agencies, or Indian tribes possessing authority under State or local law.

Information Contact

Regional office of Department of Housing and Urban Development (See appendix.)

NEIGHBORHOOD DEVELOPMENT (NOT LISTED)

Assistance Available

Neighborhood development programs consist of urban renewal project activities in one or more urban renewal areas, which are planned and carried out on the basis of annual increments. This enables communities to proceed simultaneously with actual renewal of areas requiring immediate action and with detailed planning and scheduling of subsequent redevelopment, rehabilitation, and public improvements. A contract for a loan or capital grant for the annual increment of a renewal program may cover activities in several contiguous or noncontiguous urban renewal areas. Funding on a three-fourths basis of loan and grant funds needed to carry out activities during a 12-month period in each urban renewal area covered by the community's program. Direct Federal 3 percent rehabilitation loans and grants are available to eligible owners and tenants of property in the area. Relocation assistance and Federal relocation payments must be provided for individuals, families, and businesses displaced by program activities. (See Grants for Community Development, Chapter 2, Part II.)

Eligibility

Applicants may be cities, other municipalities, and counties. The locality must have a currently certified workable program for community improvement. Application is made to the HUD area or regional office serving the area in which the community is located.

Information Contact

HUD regional or area office (See appendix.)

NEIGHBORHOOD FACILITIES (NOT LISTED)

Assistance Available

Grants from new formula block grant fund covering up to 100 percent of the development cost (three-fourths in designated redevelopment areas) are made to develop facilities to be used for neighborhood health, welfare, educational, cultural, social, recreational, or similar community service activities. Facilities may be provided by new construction or rehabilitation of existing structures, or both. Consistent with comprehensive planning for the area, and accessible to a significant proportion of the area's low- or moderate-income residents. Relocation assistance and Federal relocation payments must be provided for individuals, families, and businesses displaced by program activities.

Eligibility

Applicants may be local public bodies, agencies, or Indian tribes authorized under State or local law to undertake neighborhood facility projects. The applicant may contract with a qualified nonprofit organization to own or operate the facility, but the public body must retain control over the facility's use.

MORTGAGE INSURANCE—LAND DEVELOPMENT AND NEW COMMUNITIES (14.125)

Housing Production and Mortgage Credit, HUD

Assistance Available

Guaranteed and insured loans to assist the development of large subdivisions or new communities on a sound basis. Insures lenders against loss on mortgage loans. These loans may be used to finance the purchase of land and the development of building sites for subdivisions or new communities, including water and sewer systems, streets, lighting, and other installations needed for residential communities. Nonresidential buildings, such as schools or commercial buildings, are not included, except for water supply and sewage disposal installations, clubhouses, and parking garages owned and maintained jointly by property owners. Maximum amount of loan guarantee may not exceed 50 percent of estimated value of land before development plus 90 percent of estimated cost of development, or 75 percent of estimated value upon completion, whichever is less. The maximum amount insurable is $25 million.

Eligibility

Prospective developers, subject to approval of FHA, are eligible. Public bodies are not eligible. Eligibility as a new community requires specific findings of substantial contribution to sound economic growth of the area, and may require the approval of the local governing bodies and Governor of the State.

Information Contact

NEW COMMUNITIES—LOAN GUARANTEES (14.207)

Community Planning and Development, HUD

Assistance Available

Guaranteed and insured loans to encourage the development of well-planned, diversified, and economically sound new communities, including major additions to existing communities. Eligible costs which may be financed with the proceeds of a guaranteed loan for real property acquisition and land development include those incurred as part of a community development project. Eligible costs for land development include clearing and grading land; installing and constructing water lines and water supply systems, sewerage, roads, streets, and drainage facilities; and other preparation of land for residential, commercial, industrial, and other uses, including construction of public facilities. Other buildings are not eligible costs unless needed in connection with water supply or sewage disposal installation or a utility line, or unless the building is to be owned and maintained by residents of the new community under joint or cooperative arrangements.

Eligibility

Private new community developers and public land development agencies (including State, local, or regional public bodies) which are authorized to act as developers for new community development programs under State or local law. However, obligations of public land development agencies may not be guaranteed if the income from such obligations is exempt from Federal taxation. Development must be in accord with comprehensive areawide planning, and must preserve and enhance the environment, contribute to the welfare of the area of which it is part, provide substantial amounts of low- and moderate-income housing, encourage social innovation and the use of new technology.

Information Contact

Chapter 11. Property Protection Insurance

Program Page
Crime Insurance 120
Flood Insurance 120
Flood Plain Management Services 121

CRIME INSURANCE (14.003)

Federal Insurance Administration, HUD

Assistance Available

Insurance at subsidized premiums to enable businessmen and residents of homes and apartments to purchase burglary and robbery insurance in States where there is a critical problem of crime insurance availability at affordable rates. Residential policies are combination burglary and robbery offering up to $5,000 coverage. Commercial policies protect against loss from burglary and robbery and provide coverages up to $15,000 on a per-occurrence basis. Both residential and commercial policies are subject to deductibles. Commercial and residential premiums reflect degree of crime rate of the area in which premises are located.

Eligibility

Businessmen and residents of homes and apartments in premises located in States designated by the Federal Insurance Administration. The applicant must have protective equipment which meets FIA standards, and pay the specified premium. Protective devices are not currently required for premises insured against loss from robbery only. Commercial premiums vary according to type of business and gross receipts. Lists of designated States may be obtained from any insurance agent or broker, or from the servicing companies designated for the following States: Aetna Casualty and Surety Co. for District of Columbia, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Missouri, New York, and Ohio; Insurance Co. of North America for Illinois, Maryland, and Pennsylvania; and American Universal Insurance Co. for Rhode Island.

FLOOD PLAIN MANAGEMENT SERVICES (12.104)

Office of the Chief of Engineers, DOD

Assistance Available

Dissemination of technical information, advisory services, and counseling to promote appropriate recognition of flood hazards in land and water use planning and development. Available information identifies areas subject to flooding and flood losses from streams, lakes, and oceans and describes flood hazard at proposed building sites. It can be used as a basis for planning flood plain use, for delineating boundaries for flood plain regulations, for setting elevations for flood-proofing, and for indicating areas to be acquired for open space. Activities also include interpretation of technical information and related planning assistance and guidance toward wise use of flood plains. Services are available within annual funding limitations from district offices on request. The only exception is that services to individuals are limited to available information. It is intended that information be used in planning and its availability publicized.

Eligibility

States, political subdivisions of States, other public organizations, and individuals.

NATIONAL HISTORIC LANDMARKS (15.912)

National Park Service, USDI

Assistance Available

Provision of specialized services to study, identify, recognize honorifically, and encourage preservation of nationally significant historic properties which are tangible reminders of the American heritage, and to make these findings available to the public in published form. Properties recognized as national historic landmarks may, upon application by the owner or administrator, be awarded a certificate and bronze plaque attesting to national significance. At the same time, the applicant is requested to observe certain simple preservation precepts with regard to the property. Should subsequent occurrences alter the historic character of the site, landmark status may be revoked and the plaque and certificate removed.

Eligibility

ACTION COOPERATIVE VOLUNTEER PROGRAM (72.007)

ACTION

Assistance Available

Provision of specialized services, advisory services, and counseling to strengthen and supplement efforts to meet a broad range of human, social, and environmental needs, particularly those related to poverty, by encouraging and enabling persons from all walks of life and from all age groups to perform meaningful and constructive volunteer service in agencies, institutions, and situations where the application of human talents and dedication may help to meet such needs. Provides full-time volunteers who are willing to live in and work with disadvantaged communities. The volunteers live on allowances at the level of those people whom they serve.

Eligibility

Nonprofit organizations, public or private. The project in which they propose to use the volunteers must serve human, social, and environmental needs, especially those related to poverty.

Information Contact

ACTION regional office (See appendix.)

FOSTER GRANDPARENTS PROGRAM (72.001)

Assistance Available

Project grants to provide part-time volunteer opportunities for low-income persons age 60 and over, and to render supportive person-to-person services in health, education, and welfare, and related residential settings to children having special needs. The grants may be used for: staff salaries, foster grandparent stipends, staff fringe benefits, foster grandparent fringe benefits, staff travel, foster grandparent transportation, meals, physical examinations, uniforms or smocks, laundry, supplies, consultant and contract services, equipment, space costs, and others. Assignment of foster grandparents to children with special needs may occur in residential and nonresidential facilities including day care or preschool establishments and to children living in their own homes. Funds are not available for construction.

Eligibility

Public or nonprofit private agencies or organizations. Foster grandparents must be 60 or older; have an annual net income at or below poverty guidelines; be interested in working with children, and be physically, mentally, and emotionally capable of serving the selected children on a one-to-one basis.

UNIVERSITY YEAR FOR ACTION (72.004)

Assistance Available

Project grants to expand the use of full-time university undergraduate and graduate student volunteers, faculty assistance, and other university resources in problem-solving projects in the poverty community. Grant funds may be used for payment of volunteer allowances, staff salaries, volunteer travel, staff and faculty travel, consultant and contract services, some equipment, and preservice and inservice training.

Eligibility

Any accredited institution of higher learning or association of such institutions.

Information Contact

ACTION regional office (See appendix.)

VOLUNTEERS IN SERVICE TO AMERICA (VISTA) (72.003)

ACTION

Assistance Available

Provision of specialized services, training, advisory services, and counseling to supplement efforts of community organizations to eliminate poverty by enabling persons from all walks of life and all age groups to perform meaningful and constructive service as volunteers in situations where the application of human talent and dedication may help the poor to overcome the handicaps of poverty and poverty-related problems and secure opportunities for self-advancement. Provides full-time volunteers at the request of community groups to provide service not exceeding 2 years, but for not less than 1 year, except as the Director determines, in clearly defined jobs which lead to mobilization of the community's resources. The volunteers live on allowances at the level of, and among, the people they serve. Many volunteers—such as lawyers, health personnel teachers, architects, businessmen and craftsmen—contribute specific skills, and all volunteers work to improve the community's ability to solve its own problems.

Eligibility

Nonprofit organization, public or private. The project in which they propose to use the volunteers must be poverty related. Persons who are assisted by VISTA volunteer activities must be low income and VISTA activities must directly benefit the poor. There is usually not a direct beneficiary eligibility test since, in some cases, volunteers may work with community groups which, while basically low income, may include individuals not poor by government definition. An agency applying as a sponsor must be a bonafide public or private agency concerned with the human, social, and environmental problems related to poverty. Its acceptability may be established by its nonprofit tax status or by its official position as a public agency.

REHABILITATED HOMES FOR LOW-INCOME BUYERS (14.104)

Housing Production and Mortgage Credit, HUD

Assistance Available

Mortgage insurance. Project mortgages bearing the market interest rate are insured by the Federal Housing Administration to finance purchase and rehabilitation of substandard, dilapidated housing by qualified mortgagors. Interest rate is lowered after rehabilitation. Units in the project are then released from the project mortgage for purchase by low-income families with individual FHA-insured mortgages.

Eligibility

Private nonprofit organizations that meet FHA requirements as rehabilitation sales mortgagors are eligible for project mortgages. Individuals or families whose income falls within prescribed limits are eligible for separate home mortgages.

Information Contacts

Lending institutions approved by FHA and by Government National Mortgage Association

HUD area or insuring offices (See appendix.)

REHABILITATION GRANTS (14.308)

Community Development, HUD

Assistance Available

Rehabilitation grants are made to individuals or families who own and occupy residences in areas of federally assisted urban renewal programs; in areas of federally assisted code enforcement; in areas certified by the local governing bodies as containing a substantial number of structures in need of repairs and definitely planned for rehabilitation or code enforcement within a reasonable time; or in structures determined to be uninsurable because of physical hazards, after an inspection pursuant to a statewide property insurance plan approved by HUD under the program of property insurance for riot-affected areas. The grant may not exceed the actual cost of repairs, and must be used for improvements required to bring the property up to public standards for decent, safe, and sanitary housing, or, in the case of a grant in a riot-affected area, to make the property meet reasonable underwriting standards imposed by the plan. Relocation assistance and Federal relocation payments must be provided for individuals, families, and businesses displaced by this program. (See Relocation Assistance, Part II, Chapter 2.)

Eligibility

Applicants may be owner-occupants of properties containing one-to-four dwelling units. Application is made to the public body administering the urban renewal, code enforcement, or certified area project for the area in which the property is located or to the public or private agency designated for the riot-affected area.

COORDINATION OF RURAL DEVELOPMENT PLANNING AND ACTIVITIES (NOT LISTED)

Rural Development Service, USDA

Assistance Available

Coordinate efforts of all Federal agencies on behalf of rural development in accordance with local development plans. The Secretary of Agriculture is authorized and directed by law to assume responsibility for coordinating a nationwide rural development program; to use the services of executive branch departments and agencies; and to use the agencies, bureaus, offices, and services of the Department of Agriculture to aid rural development programs of State and local governments. In doing so, the Secretary utilizes State, regional, district, county, local, or other Department of Agriculture offices to enhance rural development. Makes arrangements for (a) the location of all field units of the Federal Government concerned with rural development in the appropriate Department of Agriculture offices covering the geographical areas most similar to those covered by such field units, and (b) the interchange of personnel and facilities in each such office to the extent necessary or desirable to achieve the most efficient utilization of such personnel and facilities and provide the most effective assistance in the development of rural areas in accordance with State rural development plans. The mandate to carry out this coordination responsibility has been delegated to the Rural Development Service.

LAW ENFORCEMENT PLANNING GRANTS (16.500)

Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, DOT

Assistance Available

Project grants and formula grants to provide for the operation of State law enforcement planning agencies which develop and administer comprehensive statewide law enforcement improvement plans. Used to set up a State planning agency to develop, implement, and monitor a comprehensive plan. Forty percent of planning funds must be passed through to units of local government unless a waiver is granted. Large cities and counties must receive planning funds.

Eligibility

Applicant Eligibility: All 50 States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, American Samoa, Guam, and Virgin Islands (only eligible jurisdictions) are participating in the program.
Beneficiary Eligibility: State and local planning agencies.

Information Contact

Regional office of Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (See appendix.)

MANPOWER PLANNING (17.232)

Manpower Administration, USDL

Assistance Available

Project grants to establish cooperative planning and execution of manpower training and supportive manpower service programs; and to establish a manpower planning coordination committee structure at the national, regional, State, and local levels. Funds for manpower planning staffs and to provide incentive for executive leadership at the State and city level, in organizing for and implementing comprehensive manpower planning.

Eligibility

All States and cities (and consortia of counties) with population of 100,000 or more. Indian organizations also are eligible to receive grants.

Information Contact

Regional office of Labor Department (See appendix.)

OUTDOOR RECREATION PLANNING (15.400)

Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, USDI

Assistance Available

Project grants to provide financial assistance to States and territories in preparing and maintaining statewide outdoor recreation plans which are required for State participation in the land and water conservation fund grant program. Such plans are directed to the needs of the people of the State for satisfying outdoor recreation opportunities. They provide a framework to guide public and private actions designated to meet this objective for revising and updating existing State outdoor recreation plans; preparation of new plans; for surveys, technical studies, data collection and analysis; and for other purposes which are clearly related to the refinement and improvement of the State outdoor recreation plan.

Eligibility

State agency formally designated by the Governor as responsible for the preparation and maintenance of the comprehensive statewide outdoor recreation plan.

Information Contact

Regional office of Bureau of Outdoor Recreation (See appendix.)

RENEWABLE RESOURCE PLANNING (NOT LISTED)

Forest Service, USDA

Assistance Available

Assistance in planning for protection, use, and management of renewable resources on forests and rangelands. Program includes an

WATER AND RELATED LAND RESOURCES RIVER BASIN COMMISSIONS (PLANNING) (MANY LISTINGS)

Water Resources Council

Assistance Available

Upon application of a majority of Governors of States within a delineated river basin, the President is authorized to establish a Federal-State river basin commission. The chairman of the commission is appointed by the President. The Federal Government pays the salary of the chairman, and 50 percent of the cost of the commission staff. When established, river basin commission is empowered to coordinate all water development planning within its geographic territory. The commission prepares and keeps up to date a comprehensive water and related land resource plan for the basin—involving Federal, State, local, and private interests in water development.
Following commissions have been established:

Great Lakes Basin Commission
Room 4102 1st Building
2200 North Campus Boulevard

WATER DEVELOPMENT PLANNING INVESTIGATIONS AND COORDINATION (65.001)

Water Resources Council

Assistance Available

Published water and related land resources planning studies which provide consistent sources of data for all types of resource planning.

Studies provide a guide for Federal, State and local interests to conserve, develop, and utilize water and related land resources in an efficient and timely manner. Study reports contain a vast amount of correlated water and related land resource data and evaluations that have not been previously available to resource managers in developing resource programs. Information is of value to river basin planning bodies and Federal agencies in the conduct of their respective programs; to States and regional agencies in developing State water plans; and to local and private planners and decisionmakers.

Eligibility

Any interested area, district, or local group—public or private—may obtain publications.

WATER DEVELOPMENT PLANNING—RIVER BASIN SURVEYS AND INVESTIGATIONS (10.906)

Soil Conservation Service, USDA

Army Engineers, DOD

Department of the Interior

Water Resources Council

Assistance Available

Advisory services, counseling, and specialized services to help States and Federal agencies prepare comprehensive plans for the development of water and related land resources within river basins or regions, giving full consideration to agricultural program impacts on resource development and use. Availability and quality of land and water resources are determined; needs for water-related goods and services are estimated and converted into requirements for water and related land resources; capability of available water and related land resources to meet these needs is determined both under present levels and potential levels of development; and the nature of feasible program and project-type developments is determined and their interrelationships established. Participation is limited to planning elements which are concerned with water and related land resources.

Eligibility

Any State water resource agency or Federal agency concerned with water resource development.

Information Contacts

State or regional office of agencies involved (See appendix.)

WATER USE PLANNING—SNOW SURVEY AND WATER SUPPLY FORECASTING (10.907)

Soil Conservation Service, USDA

Assistance Available

Provide technical information from snow surveys made in the western States and Alaska and forecasts of seasonal water supplies in affected streams for the purpose of relating available water supply to agricultural, industrial, and municipal plans and operations.

The information is used by the owners and operators of the 23 million irrigated acres in the Mountain States, the Far West, and Alaska. The data also are used in the regulation of hundreds of small and large reservoirs for irrigation, flood control, power generation, recreation, industry, and municipal supplies. Cooperators include 20 other Federal agencies, 34 State agencies, 15 municipalities, and 88 other irrigation districts and water associations and private utilities.

Eligibility

Anyone may obtain data.

Information Contact

WATER POLLUTION CONTROL—PLANNING GRANTS (66.426)

Office of Water and Hazardous Materials, EPA

Assistance Available

Formula grants to provide financial assistance to planning agencies for development of comprehensive water pollution control and abatement plans: (1) for basins or other appropriate areas which are portions thereof, and (2) which will meet applicable State water quality planning requirements. Funds may be used for payment of administrative costs, including cost of planning, consultant services, and equipment purchases directly related to development of a comprehensive plan for water quality control and pollution abatement. The only restriction is that funds may be expended only for direct planning purposes.

Eligibility

A planning agency must (1) be designated by the Governor of the State or (where the planning area includes portions of more than one State) by the majority of Governors of the States, as the agency having primary responsibility for water quality planning in the area involved; and (2) be an entity of government legally constituted or authorized under the law of the State or States in which the basin or area is located.

WATERSHED PROTECTION PLANNING (10.904)

Soil Conservation Service, USDA

Assistance Available

Project grants and advisory assistance in planning and designing watershed works of improvement to provide flood control; water quality enhancement; outdoor recreation; irrigation; drainage; sedimentation control; and water supply for rural, municipal, and industrial use.

Eligibility

State or local public bodies, groups of counties, soil and water conservation districts, and flood prevention or flood control districts. Must have authority under State law to carry out, maintain, and operate watershed works of improvement.

Appendix III: Programs Requiring Notification to States of Grant-in-Aid Actions

The Intergovernmental Cooperation Act of 1968 requires Federal agencies to notify the Governors, State legislatures, or their designated representatives of the purpose and amount of grants awarded to units of State/local government. Central reception points (State Central Information Reception Agencies) have been designated by the States for receiving and disseminating this information. Administrative procedures are defined in Department of the Treasury Circular No. 1082.

Notification is required on all grants to units of State/local government except those specifically exempted by the Act. The list below covers most grants to units of State/local government which fall within the purview of the Circular. Not included may be some programs where nongovernmental organizations are primary recipients but occasional grants are awarded to State/local government. In these instances, notification is required.

For detailed information on the award process, refer to the Award Procedure section of each program description.

Social Security Administration

SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICES

Social security offices are located throughout cities and towns in the United States. There were over 1,200 district and branch offices open as of December 31, 1973, and over 100 branch offices are expected to open during fiscal year 1974. To find the address of the office near you, consult the telephone directory under Social Security Administration or U.S. Government, or ask at your post office.

Appendix VIII: Programs Requiring an Environmental Impact Statement

Specific programs listed in the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance have been determined to have a significant effect on the environment and require an environmental assessment or an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) under Section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (Public Law 90-190; 42 U.S.C. 4332(2)(C)), and Executive Order 11514 (34 FR 4247) of March 4, 1970. (Significant effects include actions that may have both beneficial and detrimental effects.)

In the early stages of project application, and in all cases prior to agency decisions concerning major action, the applicant should be advised by the Federal agency from which assistance is being sought that he will be required to submit environmental impact information (to be submitted under agency guidelines) in connection with the proposed project for an environmental assessment (to be made by the Federal agency), or an Environmental Impact Statement (to be supplied by the Federal agency) concerning the proposed project.

Although the list below is not inclusive, it contains programs normally requiring either an environmental assessment or an Environmental Impact Statement. Programs requiring the submission of environmental assessment information by the applicant are shown with an asterisk.

For EIS coordination requirements, refer to the Preapplication Coordination section of each program description.
